Portia Pink Dot came in with a nice confidence. She explored the new environment with curiosity and ranges away without checking in but easy to get back.

She interacts appropriately with her littermates in new situations.

There was little to no stress shown when change was introduced and she also did well with stressors like bathing and extra handling.

Portia Pink Dot notices new sounds and new objects and quickly moves towards to investigate.

Her focus is very good, she shows high interest in treats and normal interest in toys. These qualities could be good for training.

She does attempts to problem solve and does not give up with no signs of stress. She shows minimal improvement after first interaction.

While exploring, Portia Pink Dot does uses her mouth less than half the time to figure it out. Rarely uses her teeth and pressure is unnoticed.

She is rarely vocal in any situation.

Portia Pink Dot is unsure of handling and adjusts on her own.

Portia Pink Dot shows no possessiveness with litter mates.

The Portia litter has a mid-moderate energy level. Portia Pink Dot gets excited about most things and is just happy to be here. She enjoys interacting with the tester and has intermittent times of not.
