- Litter Overview

The Armani males are a curious, intelligent, and affectionate group, each with distinct personalities that truly make them stand out. These puppies showcase a delightful range of behaviors, from confident exploration to playful independence, all while being incredibly smart, sweet, and loving. They strike the perfect balance between engaging with their surroundings and enjoying their own company. While each puppy has its own unique strengths, basic manners training will help them reach their full potential. Overall, this litter shows exceptional promise for various home environments, combining independence with a strong desire for affection, making them versatile and endearing companions.

Armani Green

-POTENTIAL SERVICE / THERAPY CANDIDATE

- Breeder's Pick 16-Week Prep School

- Energy Level: Mid to Moderate
- Personality: Armani Green started off nervous in a new environment, showing some initial timidity. However, he quickly discovered a love for toys, especially crinkly ones, and interactive play. Before long, he was the first to engage in play with people, working hard to maintain attention by jumping in and out of laps and bouncing around in the cutest way. He began by appearing shy but soon became the star of the show, craving love and affection. He is exceptionally people-oriented and very intuitive. He prefers human interaction over toys or independent play, making him an excellent Service or therapy dog candidate.

Armani Blue

- Energy Level: Moderate
- Personality: Armani Blue is quick to explore new environments, showing strong confidence and curiosity. He has a sharp mind and is smart and calculated in his actions, often figuring out ways to get what he wants. He enjoys playing with toys or his littermates but is just as happy to find a quiet spot to chill on his own, always keeping an eye out for something fun to join. Very self-assured, he tries to play it cool, though he occasionally shows a silly side. His independent nature makes him less needy, which could be ideal for someone looking for a more self-reliant puppy.

Armani Orange

- Energy Level: Moderate
- Personality: Armani Orange was immediately captivated by toys, able to play independently for extended periods and content doing so. Like many puppies, he uses his mouth to explore, but he redirects easily to appropriate chew toys. His strong toy motivation and focus make him an excellent candidate for Prep School. While he has a streak of independence, he will seek out affection when he's ready, initiating interaction on his terms.

Armani Blue Dot

- Energy Level: Moderate
- Personality: Armani Blue Dot was initially a bit reserved, preferring to observe interactions from a safe distance before deciding whether to join in. He is content to do his own thing, finding enjoyment in simple discoveries like a leaf on the floor, which kept him entertained for several minutes. He's not overly needy and enjoys a balance of play and alone time. His pleasant independence makes him a good fit for someone who doesn't need a very needy puppy.
