They are precious little ones. both girls are accustomed to lots of affection and attention. They are well loved and may be a little spoiled.

Pink "Dumpling" is self-assured and confident in her interactions. She enjoys playing on her own as well as engaging with others. She is not fearful or timid.

She was a little busier than her sister red tag. Which is good for someone who doesn't want an overly needy puppy.

She's good with handling and does take the time to check in and crawl up in your lap for sweet snuggles. Her attention is good which will be great for training.

Red "Biscuit" is a sweet pea. A little reserved and shy at first but really wants attention. She enjoys being handled and loved on.

She prefers hanging with people over independent play.

Could get overwhelmed if there's too much action or rough play.

Great potential for someone who needs a little best friend and has lots of time to give her. No red flags.

Happy happy little girl. The more you talk to her, the faster her tails wags.

Health notes:

Watch red's underbite.
