

Gretchen Boys Temperament Assessments

Date Of Birth 7/4/2024

Gretchen Litter Photo Album

7 Week Litter Video

Temperament Test Video

Blue - a little unsure to start, but had a lot of want to. As he settled in, he began to explore independently and enjoy interacting with people and toys. He was very happy when he got attention. He loves people and will bond hard and fast.

Once he warmed up, he became a spitfire.

He can hold his own with his brothers, but is very respectful when interacting with people. He can be a little mouthy, but doesn't mean to and redirects well.

If given the choice to play with people or toys, he's going to pick people. He may be jealous of your attention if there's other dogs in the household.

A very entertaining fun loving puppy.

Moderate energy level no red flags.

Green - a little more self-assured than his brothers. He's OK to play on his own, but still has a bit of uncertainty. That will change as confidence builds. He's not needy and is comfortable to do his own thing. He would shy away from too much activity. He just needs to feel comfortable and warm up on his own time. He's a sweet and gentle puppy and is good with handling. No red flags but could get overwhelmed if it's too much too soon.

Mid-level energy.

Orange - sweet and affectionate. Had a little shy submissive posture to start but very sweet. He loved engaging with people.

He became more and more bubbly and excited the more you engaged with him. Just a happy puppy. Cute play personality.

He was happy to play for a little while and enjoyed that experience, but then would check in often for human interaction.

He and blue dot are most motivated by people. He loves toys. He's the clown of the group and will keep you entertained. He will be someone's best best friend. No red flags moderate energy level.

Watch for potential service or therapy characteristics.

Blue dot (BP) - vocal when he's unsure or left alone. He's passionate about being with people and getting attention.

He's a lover and will bond easily. When he's unsure of new things, he wants to stick close and not let you out of his sight.

He likes to engage and play and has a cute playfulness about him.

Watch for potential service or therapy characteristics.

Green Dot - He's cautious but a little more self-assured. Not overly needy or fretful. He's OK to be left alone without stressing himself too much.

He prefers to play on his own and doesn't ask for attention very much. He will shy away from too much noise or activity.

He mostly kept himself with independent play, but liked to be the one to initiate play or attention when he was ready.

Mid-level energy

