Kiwi Girls Temperament Overview:

The Kiwi litter overall is confident and self-assured after our time to adjust into a new situation. They are timid to start, but do adjust very well. They show some stress in new situations, around new people and in circumstances typically considered stressful. These puppies react appropriately to new sights, being curious and investigative, they do startle but recover very quickly and on their own. These puppies have good memory, focus, and problem-solving abilities average to their age and stage of development. They also have good motivations for interaction, food, and toys at fairly equal and balanced levels.

These puppies are socially appropriate in their interactions with one another with cats and with other dogs. They are also socially appropriate in their interactions with people they rarely use their mouth to initiate or engagement play and have excellent bite inhibition. If they do, these puppies are rarely vocal although Blue does vocalize during play when he's being silly. These puppies have no red flags and show no possessiveness. Overall they should adapt well into most any home. There are subtle differences between individual puppies noted.
