Megan Litter Temperament Overview

The Megan litter overall is confident and self-assured, although a couple of puppies need a little time to adjust into new situations. Once they adjust, they are very confident and show no stress in new situations, around new people, or in circumstances typically considered stressful. They react appropriately to new sites and sounds, including those which would typically be considered startling. These puppies are socially appropriate and their interactions with one another, with cats, and with other dogs. They are curious and investigative. These puppies overall are comfortable and tolerant of handling and restraint, most of them actively seeking out this type of interaction. These puppies overall have very good motivations for food and interaction. These puppies use their mouth somewhat to initiate or engage in interaction, but have excellent bite inhibition and it does go unnoticed. These puppies are fairly consistent with very subtle differences between them when comparing these puppies side-by-side. The litter is content to explore and play on their own without being too needy. These puppies overall should adapt well into most any home environment
